APEX CAREERS ACCESS CHANNEL INITIATIVE AFRICA (ACACIA)
ONLINE RECRUITMENT FORUM FOR 'AFFRILLENNIALS' & EMPLOYERS

Over the past decade the number of university graduates has increased exponentially, whilst the unemployment rate in South Africa has increased to 27% in 2017.

To assist in addressing this challenge, UKZN Extended Learning in partnership with QS Global Workplace is launching a free (pilot) online recruitment platform to connect work seekers at the undergraduate level, with employers in a unique way that optimises results for all involved.

This is the essence of ACACIA: To increase the employment rate of undergraduates and to assist employers and recruiters to identify and grow a talent pool of future candidates well in advance of their arrival at work. The online platform will ensure direct engagement which will expedite the recruitment process, resulting in less administration and better results!

If you are a UKZN undergraduate student and registered with:

- School of Accounting, Economics and Finance
- School of Engineering
- School of Mathematics and Computer Science

And you:

- Are seeking employment and work experience
- Are applying for internship and vacation work opportunities
- Want direct access to some of the most progressive companies in South Africa
- Want less administration and efficient feedback
- Want direct communication with potential employers
- Want relevant career advise
- Want to work with a system that is supported by professional ICT personnel
- Want to take charge of your future and eager to launch your career!

then ACACIA is for you!
