Emerging Managers Programme

About this programme

New and Emerging Managers are tasked with the responsibility of managing a team to achieve results for the first time. They have to navigate a new environment, having moved past technical task based familiarity to managing others. The purpose of this programme is to take delegates through the fundamentals of management, addressing competencies required for effective management and covering everything from the functional competencies required of a manager, to the more process orientated people management.

This programme is aimed at individuals who are earmarked as future leaders/managers in an organisation, or individuals who have recently been promoted to management level and are now having to navigate a new landscape. This practical 8 week programme will enable delegates to develop a strong foundation for effective leadership and people management.

Facilitators include:

Dr Rosemary Sibanda

Rosemary was appointed at UKZN Graduate School of Business and Leadership in January 2015. Prior to this, she lectured at the UNISA Graduate School of Business Leadership, North West University, National University of Science and Technology and tutored on the Open University (UK)/MBA Programme hosted by the UNISA Graduate School of Business Leadership. Rosemary is also a UNDP trained facilitator in Conflict Transformation. She has published in the areas of ICT and e-Readiness, Service Quality, Leadership, Marketing, Corporate Governance, Knowledge Management and Strategy. She has served on several companies' boards of directors as Chairperson and Non-Executive Director. She is also a member of various professional, academic and socio-economic bodies locally, regionally and internationally.

Mondli Mbambo

Mondli is a passionate project management professional and practitioner. He is a Project Manager by choice, not by chance. He has worked with various consulting firms as their Project Management Specialist and has been facilitating Project Management lectures for the past 11 years. He sees lecturing as the strategic platform to share real life case studies from various projects that he has worked with. Mondli is a member of the Project Management Institute (PMI) and serves as the President of Project Management South Africa (KwaZulu-Natal region).
