The University of KwaZulu-Natal is committed to employment equity.

COLLEGE OF HUMANITIES
SCHOOL OF ARTS
Discipline of Languages and Literature

TUTORS: LINGUISTICS

The Linguistics discipline in the School of Arts on the Howard College Campus invites applications for 2025 tutoring positions within the discipline. Successful candidates will be required to conduct tutorials in the first-year module, Introduction to Language Studies and/or the second-year module, The Multilingual Mind of semester two (2025) at Howard College Campus. The tutorials will take place on a Friday on campus (face-to-face). The successful applicant must be registered (or must be intending to register) for a Master's degree or a PhD and must have majored in Linguistics.

Requirements:

- Registered (or intending to register) for MA or PhD in Linguistics
- Must have majored in Linguistics
- Access to a reliable Internet connection
- Good interpersonal skills
- Dependable
- Available for tutoring, student consultations, and marking from July to October

Applicants who do not meet these requirements will not be considered.

Applicants are required to email the respective module co-ordinators to express their interest. Please note that you may apply to tutor in either or both modules. Please state in your application which module/s you would like to tutor. Kindly add your student number and contact details in your email.

LING102 Introduction to Language Studies
Dr Muhle Sibisi: sibisim3@ukzn.ac.za

LING204 Language and Diversity
Professor Heike Tappe: tappe@ukzn.ac.za

The closing date for applications: 23 July 2025.