COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE, ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE

LECTURER: PHYSICS (ONE POSITION)
FIVE MONTHS FIXED TERM APPOINTMENT

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE & SCIENCE
PIETERMARITZBURG CAMPUS

REF NO: SASc PHYS1/2026

The School of Agriculture & Science in Pietermaritzburg campus is seeking lecturers to teach Physics (Phys 263 and Phys 365). In addition to expertise in Physics, the applicants are required to have skills in programming language such Fortran 90, Mathematica, Linux and Python coding and mathematical methods. The successful candidate appointed to this position will lecture Physics, which will include lecturing at the undergraduate and Honours levels. Duties include, but may not be restricted to, delivering lectures and tutorials either online or in the classroom, overseeing student practical sessions, setting and marking tests and exams, student consultation, and attendance at relevant staff meetings. Teaching duties will be allocated depending on exact requirements of the School.

The incumbent will report to the Head of the Discipline of Physics (Pietermaritzburg). Note that this is an exclusive, full-time, fixed term position, so no other paid employment is permitted within or external to UKZN, unless authorised by the Head of School.

Minimum Requirements:

- PhD or MSc degree in Physics or postgraduate student in the field with evidence of submission of PhD thesis for examination.
- Relevant teaching experience at a tertiary level, especially lecturing large first-year and/or senior classes.
- Evidence of presentation at national or international conferences.
- Evidence of research activities supported by publications in quality scientific journals

Advantage:

- Must have demonstrable experience in Fortran 90, Mathematica and Linux.

Remuneration will be based on the University's standard rates of pay, paid on a per lecture/tutorial/practical basis. There are no benefits associated with the appointment.
